

Dear Parent, Greetings!

We are happy to share that school has started with DEAR (Drop Everything And Read) program. The aim of this programme is to give a structured time to the students to read what they want to read, share what they have read, explore and reflect. As a part of this programme, school is providing children with daily newspaper and has initiated reading club activities. To further strengthen this, every Monday, zero period would be DEAR period and we request you to encourage your child to bring the book/magazine of their choice which they can read during this hour.

Dear Parent, Greetings!

We are happy to share that school has started with DEAR (Drop Everything And Read) program. The aim of this programme is to give a structured time to the students to read what they want to read, share what they have read, explore and reflect. As a part of this programme, school is providing children with daily newspaper and has initiated reading club activities. To further strengthen this, every Monday, zero period would be DEAR period and we request you to encourage your child to bring the book/magazine of their choice which they can read during this hour.

Dear Parent, Greetings!

We are happy to share that school has started with DEAR (Drop Everything And Read) program. The aim of this programme is to give a structured time to the students to read what they want to read, share what they have read, explore and reflect. As a part of this programme, school is providing children with daily newspaper and has initiated reading club activities. To further strengthen this, every Monday, zero period would be DEAR period and we request you to encourage your child to bring the book/magazine of their choice which they can read during this hour.

Dear Parent, Greetings!

We are happy to share that school has started with DEAR (Drop Everything And Read) program. The aim of this programme is to give a structured time to the students to read what they want to read, share what they have read, explore and reflect. As a part of this programme, school is providing children with daily newspaper and has initiated reading club activities. To further strengthen this, every Monday, zero period would be DEAR period and we request you to encourage your child to bring the book/magazine of their choice which they can read during this hour.